PRESS RELEASE

MAGAL ACQUIRES WEBSILICON STRENGTHENING ITS CYBER SECURITY OFFERINGS FOR CRITICAL SITES

YAHUD, Israel – Jan. 23rd 2013 -- Magal Security Systems, Ltd. (NASDAQ GM: MAGS) today announced the acquisition of WebSilicon Ltd., an Israeli-based company with unique monitoring offerings for landline and wireless networks.

WebSilicon Ltd. will form an integral part of Magal's recently announced cyber strategy that will expand its offerings to deliver integrated physical-cyber solutions for critical sites.

Eitan Livneh, President and CEO of Magal S<sup>3</sup>, commented: "Magal chose WebSilicon due its strong executive and development team, as well as its successful product sales to intelligence and other cyber protection players. The founders' experience and backgrounds will allow Magal to accelerate its efforts to be a leader in the convergence of physical and cyber security. WebSilicon will continue to support its existing customers and expand its presence in the network management and monitoring markets."

Iftah Bratspiess, CEO of WebSilicon, commented: "We are very excited to join the Magal group and to become part of a larger and successful organization. This will enable us to improve our support to our existing customers, address new markets and invest more in our leading cyber technology."
